On The Ball: Moo Marketing and Manchester Mosquitoes.

Moo Marketing are pleased to announce that they're now the official sponsor of the Manchester Mosquitoes Australian Rules Football Club.

Formed in 2005, the Mosquitoes represent the Greater Manchester area in the Australian Football League's Central and North West division. Since then the Mosquitoes have gone from strength to strength, helping to set up AFLCNW and then establishing themselves as major players in the league.

Duncan Green, Director of Moo Marketing, is excited about getting involved with a community sports team. "The Manchester Mosquitoes are an excellent team, and Aussie Rules Football is becoming increasingly popular. Aussie Rules Football is a fun, competitive sport, and the Mosquitoes are a fun, competitive team; we're exactly the same at Moo Marketing. We're delighted to be sponsoring a team in our local area."

Matt Shelton, the Manchester Mosquitoes' Coach, had this to say about the sponsorship deal: "I'm delighted to be associated with Moo Marketing for 2010. Since our club started we have been gradually building a brand in the Manchester area, offering an exciting and fast-paced alternative to other sports. Their support will enable us to optimise training facilities and equipment, fundamental components in helping us achieve our goal of winning the division championship in 2010."

This sponsorship deal, and the financial security it brings, is a great start to the team's season. The first AFLCNW fixture is on the 8th of May, at the Manchester Mosquitoes' home ground, Burnage Rugby Football Club.
